

NEWS FROM NICK

What are you reading?

DID YOU KNOW? Bananas...

really do share 40-60% of the same DNA as humans! In 2013 this information was shared with the National Human Genome Research Institute!

PAM MUÑOZ RYAN

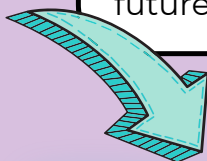

Here at the KIDVENTURES PODCAST we highlight an author every episode. In episode 1 you heard us talk about Pam Muñoz Ryan and her books Esperanza Rising and Echo. The story about a seed being planted in Pam Muñoz Ryan's life by a teacher shows the power of words over people. In this month's ADVENTURE PROMPT, I would like you to create a character who overcame a fear by the encouraging words of a friend. Have an adult send your story to thekidventurespodcast@gmail.com or go to www.nickgoss.com and submit to be considered as a featured story on an upcoming episode! I'm looking forward to sharing submissions here in our newsletter as well! Don't forget to go to the podcast page and learn more about Pam Muñoz Ryan and her books. Let us know if you've read any of her books and what your favorite title is!

Thank you for listening to this month's podcast! And a special thank you to Christian for having amazing ideas and sharing his story..

"Gamer Jack and the Banana Hack!"

We look forward to sharing the next episode with you soon! Remember, if you have a story idea please have an adult go to www.nickgoss.com and submit your story! You can also e-mail us at thekidventurespodcast@gmail.com! Send us your poems, stories, artwork, and anything else you would like to share! We would love to include it in future issues of this newsletter!

ABOUT ME

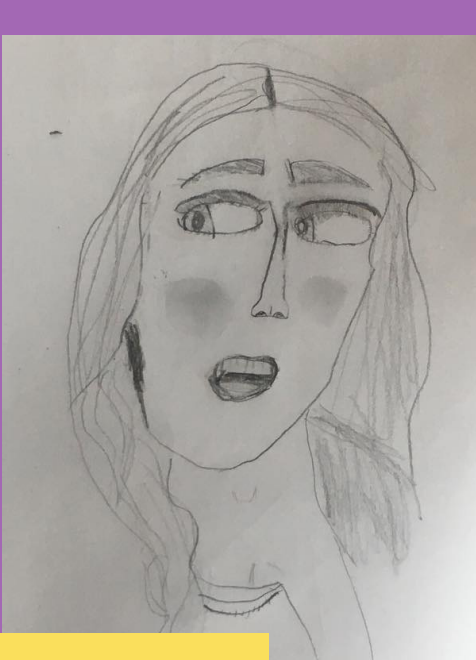

Since this is the first edition of our podcast newsletter, let me tell you a little bit about myself. I've always loved stories that led me to believe I could become something that I read. After Robin Hood by Howard Pyle I took up archery. After Peter Pan I set up a tipi in my backyard and slept under the stars. After Wind in the Willows I carjacked a red convertible and crashed into the nearby diner restaurant (just kidding on that last one...)

I believe stories open doors to great ideas and hope that this podcast encourages you to find your own voice as you create original stories for your family to enjoy!
